Chris Eyre is Pipe-Major of the Liverpool Scottish Regimental Association Pipe Band. The Liverpool Scottish has a distinguished history since its inception in 1900. The 1st Battalion suffered heavy losses during the World War I, and throughout the World War II it fielded two battalions, and remained at battalion strength until 1967, when it became a Company of the 1/51 Highland Volunteers. In 2000 the Company was reduced to two platoons as part of the King’s Regiment, but the Regimental Association and its Pipe Band is going strong.
